v.) No. 2:17-CR-006
)
STEVEN EDWIN HEATHCOCK)

By judgment entered July 17, 2017, this Court sentenced the defendant to a six-month term of imprisonment, to be followed by 25 years of supervised release, for failing to comply with the Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act (“SORNA”). Pursuant to a limited remand by the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals [doc. 47], this case is back before the court solely for correction of the length of the term of defendant’s supervised release.

On June 20, 2019, the Supreme Court decided Gundy. The Court held that “under the approach this Court has taken for many years,” Congress did not violate the nondelegation doctrine by delegating certain SORNA powers to the Attorney General.

Gundy v. United States, No. 17-6086, 2019 WL 2527473, at * 9-10 (S. Ct. June 20, 2019) (Alito, J., concurring). Accordingly, the defendant's motion to dismiss [doc. 51] is DENIED.

A resentencing hearing remains set for Thursday, August 15, 2019, at 1:15 p.m. in Greeneville, for the limited purpose of correcting the length of the term of supervision.¹ The United States Probation Office is DIRECTED to provide the Court with information necessary for sentencing. In accordance with E.D. Tenn. L.R. 83.9(j), the parties shall file all sentencing memoranda at least 14 days before the resentencing hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
